

March LifeCare, Riverside County

On Wednesday, the planning arm of the March Joint Powers Commission unanimously recommended that the full commission approve March Healthcare Development's plans to lay the groundwork for a new March LifeCare medical campus on the site of the former March Air Force Base, the Riverside Press-Enterprise reports.

The full commission will meet on July 20. If the commission approves March Healthcare Development's master plot plan and its specific plan amendment, officials hope to start building water and sewer line infrastructure before the end of 2011. Mark Ostoich, legal counsel for March Healthcare Development, said the first buildings of the medical campus are expected to be constructed sometime next year (Pierceall, Riverside Press-Enterprise, 7/6).
