March Healthcare Development Announces Alliance with Strategic Connections, Inc.

July 20, 2010, Riverside, CA. March Healthcare Development (MHD), developer of March LifeCare -- America's first "health and wellness" city, announced an alliance with Corona-based Strategic Connections, Inc. (SCI). SCI has assisted clients throughout Southern California for nearly a decade in addressing utility challenges and opportunities. SCI professionals have over 300 years of combined utility experience, and work with both field and management personnel from the electric, gas, and telecommunications industries. The goal is to allow projects to meet planning and construction schedules and budgets.

Associates of Strategic Connections, Inc. are primarily former and retired utility management and technical specialists that are experts in electric, telecommunications, and gas utility design, planning, and operation. Jack Wyatt, President of SCI, retired from Southern California Edison after a career of 28 years in management and public policy development. From 1985 to 1999, he served as Region Director for the Inland Empire responsible for three counties and 56 cities representing an annual revenue base of 3.5 Billion.

Don Ecker, Founder and Managing Director for March HealthCare Development said, "I am looking forward to working with Jack once again. We have worked together for over 20 years on many civic and community projects to advance the quality of life within our region...this will be our most exciting and rewarding regional adventure ever".

Wyatt adds, "Working with Don Ecker on the March LifeCare Campus project is a 'one of a kind' opportunity. There has been no other project like it in the state, and the project's location at March Air Reserve Base poses numerous unique utility challenges during a difficult economy".
